

Atmospheric Sciences 101: Updating Your Library Skills

Free Workshop

Tuesday January 19, 2010

Atlanta-Fulton Public Central Library

9:30 am to 3:30 pm

Atmospheric Science Librarians International (ASLI) is sponsoring a free day long workshop on information sources for everyone working on atmospheric science and climate change topics.

Topics include:

- Serials & Databases
- Technical Reports
- Books
- Data Sources
- Map & Imagery Sources

There will be a drawing for a year's membership to Atmospheric Science Librarians International.

Sponsored by Atmospheric Science Librarians International.
This is an opportunity to learn the favorite reference sources for librarians at NASA, George Mason University, Environment Canada Pennsylvania State University, University of California - Los Angeles and University of Iowa.

Reservations for the workshop should be made by January 15th at <http://hosted.lib.uiowa.edu/asli/>
If you have questions, please contact echandho@gmu.edu or kari-kozak@uiowa.edu